Key features of the Share Prices Managed Account Service

Nature of Share Prices Managed Account Service

The Share Prices Managed Account Service (also referred to as the "Service" or the "Scheme") is a registered managed investment scheme in which each member has a separate account to which their investments are allocated ("Account" or "Personal Portfolio").

Only the member's investments are allocated to their Account. There is no pooling of investments as among members (however, members may hold a fractional investment in an investment).

Model Portfolios

Your Personal Portfolio can be constructed by using a range of available investment strategies. Each investment strategy is referred to as a Model Portfolio. You select suitable Model Portfolios in consultation with your financial adviser. Details of each Model Portfolio are set out in separate documents, referred to as "PDS Part Bs".

Once you decide with your financial adviser which Model Portfolios are best suited to your investment needs and objectives, we will purchase securities (or cause those securities to be purchased) to be included in your Personal Portfolio so that it reflects the Model Portfolio, or combination of Model Portfolios, that you have selected. Your investment strategy and preferences may only be communicated to us either by yourself directly, or by your Authorised Representative (normally your adviser – see the Part B PDS for more information on Authorised Representatives).

Purposes of Share Prices Managed Account Service

An Account held in the Share Prices Managed Account Service is generally like an account held with a financial services account provider but with the added features of being provided as a registered scheme. This means the provider, Gleneagle Asset Management Limited, in its capacity as the Responsible Entity, is subject to all the laws, duties and features of a responsible entity for a registered managed investment scheme. This core feature should give added benefits and protections to members who hold Accounts, compared with accounts that are not registered schemes.

As a Managed Account Service, the core features are holding investments for the member, arranging dealing in them, accessing investment opportunities and trading platforms and reporting on the member's Account.

Additional services and features may be available from time to time. These are in addition to the core features of a Managed Account Service and so are not described in this PDS. An example is the service of providing managed investment services under specific discretionary authorities (as selected and agreed by the member). Another example is accessing investment offers that would not be available by the member directly applying for them, but which is made available to the responsible entity. Another example is making available to members fractional interests in investments that would not be possible by direct investments.

As a fully regulated Managed Account Service as a registered managed investment scheme, the Service is not an "investor directed portfolio service" nor is it regulated as an "IDPS" (also known as an IDPS-like scheme).

A member may be allowed to have more than one Account. Each different Account will be designated differently. Each different Account of the same member will be treated as a separate Account, that is, there will be no cross-collateralisation as among the member's several Accounts (unless the member separately, expressly agrees to that). This allows the member to have different Accounts for different purposes.

The different Accounts also allows different trading platforms to be accessed by the member. This allows flexibility and a variety of investment opportunities from time to time.

Members

The member of the Scheme is the person in whose legal name the Account is registered by us.

Members who hold an Account as an intermediary for others are the only persons who may exercise their rights as members. We do not recognise as members any other person.

While we allow Account designations and multiple Accounts for the same member, and we may from time to time offer services which include trading authority and Account viewing authority to another person (such as the person for whom the member is acting), we do not recognise any such as other person as a member and we are not responsible to them other than as required by law.

Holding investments through an Account, whether directly as the member or through the investor's representative as the member, may have different features and risks that do not arise for investors directly holding their investments.

Any person who is considering whether to allow their representative to hold an Account for them should carefully consider this limitation and their representative's responsibilities to them. We are not liable to those other persons for the performance by their representative to them.

Appointed Agents

Gleneagle Asset Management Limited is the Responsible Entity of the Share Prices Managed Account Service. It is always ultimately responsible to you for the operation of the Share Prices Managed Account Service.

The Responsible Entity is permitted to appoint as its agent other persons to perform some of the operation of the Share Prices Managed Account Service. These include, for example, appointing one or more custodians, Program Managers or other investment managers. The Responsible Entity remains always ultimately responsible to you even if it appoints an agent for some of the operation of the Service.

The key appointments are:

- Operator – Gleneagle Securities oversees the operation of the Service, including the digital platforms, arranging the dealing services, arranging the financial products available to members, overseeing the administration including payments and reporting, compliance services and back office support. The Operator may in turn appoint administrators, dealers, brokers, platform providers, investment advisers, Program Managers, product issuers, banks, settlement and clearing agents, news service providers and other service providers.

- Custodian – The Responsible Entity appoints one or more custodians to hold all financial products in your Account. Direct holdings in financial products issued for a member may be held either in the name of the Responsible entity or the custodian. Some assets may be held by overseas custodians, or by a sub-custodian appointed by the custodian. (References to “custodian” includes references to one or more sub-custodians appointed from time to time, including those appointed by a sub-custodian.) These arrangements are part of the benefits of the Service.
- Program Managers may be appointed to advise on and manage a Model Portfolio on an ongoing basis. This is an additional feature which will be described in a separate Supplementary PDS from time to time.

Section 1 - Significant benefits

The significant benefits of investing in the Share Prices Managed Account Service include:

- Your Account is an interest in a registered managed investment scheme.
- Your Account is segregated from other Accounts (though investments may be aggregated when held by any custodian).
- You can access a variety of investments, trading platforms, custody services, dealing services and other financial services that might not be offered at all, or on the same terms, directly to retail clients.
- Fractional investing will be available in selected investments (as approved by the Responsible Entity from time to time). For example, a single investment in an “exchange traded fund” might be too large for a single member yet the Service can allocate a fractional investment in it. While each Account is NOT pooled with other Accounts, a single investment held by fractional investments for more than one member will be held in a pooled account with a custodian on behalf of all members who hold a fractional investment allocation (corresponding to the amount they have invested in that fractional investment). This gives more investment opportunities, and potentially earlier access to the opportunity for the member.
- When available, managed portfolios allow the member to delegate investment decisions to the Responsible Entity, following a Model Portfolio chosen by the member. The Responsible Entity in turn appoints a Program Manager. The Program Manager manages the portfolio’s composition. Dealings made to follow the Model Portfolio and its investment strategy may be made by the Program Manager, or by the Operator, depending on the Model Portfolio. Details of each Model Portfolio (or Program Manager’s suite of Model Portfolios) will be in their own supplementary PDS.
- You will have considerable flexibility in allocating your investments as among your several Accounts. This can allow you to trade separately by different Accounts, change your entire portfolio's investment allocations, have different strategies and other different features or services, yet get overall reporting across all your Accounts. We may specify minimum Account balances or conditions from time to time, which will limit your flexibility. For example, an Account used to trade OTC derivatives might need a minimum balance, or minimum trading activity (so we can manage inactive accounts or comply with our legal duties).
- You can move investments into or out of your Account at any time (subject only to daily business cut-offs and third-party service suppliers, such as banks, brokers and settlement systems).
- Contributions and withdrawals can be by electronic funds transfer.
- Moving investments out of the Share Prices Managed Account Service does not ordinarily result in a realisation for capital gains tax purposes, unless you cease to be the beneficial owner of an investment.

Section 2 - Significant risks

Before you make an investment decision, it is important to identify your investment objectives and the level of risk you are prepared to accept. This may be influenced by factors such as:

- The timeframe over which you are expecting a return on your investment and your need for regular income versus longer-term capital growth.
- Your level of comfort with volatility in returns.
- The general and specific risks associated with Model Portfolios.
- Risks associated with the structure through which your investments are made.

As such, it may be important for you to obtain personal advice about your financial circumstances and needs, as well as the suitability of the Share Prices Managed Account Service and the Model Portfolios before you apply to establish an Account within the Share Prices Managed Account Service or select any Model Portfolio.

Scheme risk

There are risks particular to investing in the Share Prices Managed Account Service including that the Share Prices Managed Account Service could be terminated, fees and charges could change (including increases and additional fees, charges and costs), the Responsible Entity could be changed, Program Managers of Model Portfolios offered by the Share Prices Managed Account Service may be changed and those Model Portfolios could be closed or changed.

The Service is governed by the laws for registered managed investment schemes, the Constitution, each of which may be amended from time to time.

Investing through the Scheme

Investing through your Account has benefits and risks. The significant risks include the risk that the Responsible Entity (including by its agents) does not comply with the laws, the Constitution or your permissible instructions.

Use of custodians means the investments for your Account are held in the name of the Responsible Entity or one of its custodians. This gives the custody risk that the custody may be lost, or not settled in the ordinary course, or there may be errors in allocating investments to your Account.

Investment opportunities may be available because the Responsible Entity (or one of its custodians) is the legal owner of investments held for your Account. This includes offers only to wholesale clients (such as the Responsible Entity). The requirements by the offeror for those investment opportunities may differ and may later change, giving the risks that not all investments may be taken up, or held, by the Responsible Entity.

The wholesale client status of the Responsible Entity may significantly affect the terms on which financial services or financial products are made available to the Responsible Entity. For example, shareholder and other corporate benefits available to registered shareholders might not be directly passed through to each member's Account, since the Responsible Entity (or its custodian) will be the sole registered legal owner of the investments giving rise to those shareholder benefits.

Similarly, by reason of the Responsible Entity being classed as a wholesale client, other providers of financial services or financial products may manage their services or deliver products to the Responsible Entity, without documents and client protections for retail clients, so members of the Service will only have the benefit of the Responsible Entity being treated as a wholesale client in respect of their investments. For example, pre-IPO offers, rights issues, OTC derivatives, and overseas offers might not have a regulated product disclosure document or, if they do, might deal with client moneys (sourced from members, invested in their Account and paid by the Responsible Entity to the other financial services licensee) as client moneys of a wholesale client (and so not have the protections given to retail client trust moneys). This has the risk that members of the Service, while having the benefit of the opportunity to invest indirectly (through the Service) in those opportunities, also do not have the benefit of retail client disclosures and laws protecting them if they were directly investing as retail clients.

When possible, the Responsible Entity will make available the disclosure documents of the other financial services provider (including by providing an online link to where the documents are available).

Program Managers

There are risks in the proper monitoring of Program Managers (to ensure portfolio directions are consistent with their Model Portfolio's investment objectives and strategy) and in executing transactions and holding the Share Prices Managed Account Service's assets. Gleneagle has managed these risks by engaging Gleneagle Securities (Aust) Pty Ltd as Operator to perform management, execution and (if needed) custody services. The Responsible Entity therefore relies on Gleneagle Securities (Aust) Pty Ltd to monitor and to manage external Program Managers, execute transactions for the financial products in the Share Prices Managed Account Service's Accounts and (if needed) for holding the investments for the Accounts. Gleneagle Securities (Aust) Pty Ltd may hold the investments as custodian or appoint sub-custodians.

Gleneagle Securities (Aust) Pty Ltd, the Operator, and custodian and as a product issuer of OTC derivatives dealt for members' Accounts, is a related body corporate of the Responsible Entity. While this brings considerable cost and administrative efficiencies to the Share Prices Managed Account Service, it also brings conflicts of interests. The Responsible Entity maintains compliance procedures to ensure conflicts of interests and duties are managed in the interests of the Share Prices Managed Account Service as a whole in accordance with the Constitution and legal requirements.

General risks

All investments have an inherent level of risk. There is a trade-off between higher expected returns for higher expected risk – represented by the variability of investment returns. Investment risk may also result in loss of income or capital invested and possible delays in repayment. Members could receive back less than they initially invested and there is no guarantee that they will receive any income.

Portfolio investment risk

The strategy may invest in speculative investments with increased levels of investment risk. The value of the member's Account's investments in the Scheme may fall or fluctuate widely which will affect the portfolio. Changes in economic, political or market conditions or the regulatory environment may adversely impact the portfolio and its investments. In addition, other factors may affect investments (i.e., interest rates, exchange rates) and consequently the value of the portfolio may fall.

Scheme operations

The Responsible Entity (including by its agents) may in its discretion do a number of things in the management of the Scheme (that is, the Service), without notice to members and in some cases without taking into consideration the specific issues, benefits or risks to each specific member. The Responsible Entity may do this in its discretion (subject to the terms of agreements with appointed agents) because the range of circumstances that might justify this in the interests of members is too broad to be specifically mandated in any contract. This includes ending arrangements for trading platforms or access to it by any member or their authorised representative, terminating access to any dealer, product issuer, offering or market at any time, changing (including limiting) minimum balances or restricting access to product types.

Regulatory risk

This is the risk that a government or regulator may change the laws or expectations for accessing investment opportunities, the Scheme or any other decision which affects the value of investments held in the Share Prices Managed Account Service. This includes changes that affect the product issuer, the treatment of the Responsible Entity as a wholesale client for accessing OTC derivatives by a change in tax or tax administration.

Market risk

Economic, technological, political or legislative conditions and even market sentiment can (and do) change and this can mean that changes in the value of investment markets can affect the value of investments in an Account in the Share Prices Managed Account Service.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that we will have difficulty in realising investments held in an Account. While this is not a direct risk of the Service, the use of the Service might have delays or reliance on the personnel of the Responsible Entity or of its agents which add to the risk of non-performance or delays.

Derivative risk

A range of financial derivatives, for example foreign exchange contracts, futures and options, may be used to implement investment decisions and to manage risk in an Account in the Share Prices Managed Account Service. An investment in derivatives is a sophisticated financial product and can cause a portfolio to make gains or incur losses that are large in proportion to the money invested in them. Derivative transactions may also involve the risk (including credit risk) that the counterparty on a transaction will be unable to honour its financial obligation to the Responsible Entity with respect to derivatives held on behalf of an investor. While the Responsible Entity will be directly responsible to the issuer of the OTC derivative, the Responsible Entity holds that Account's OTC derivatives beneficially for the member of the Service. The member will be fully responsible to the Responsible Entity for all shortfalls and other obligations rising from the Responsible Entity trading in those for the Account of the member. The member may better manage this risk by fully understanding the OTC derivative, including by reading the disclosure documents from the issuer, as made available by the Responsible Entity.

Counterparty Risk

This risk is the risk that a counterparty to a given agreement does not meet its contractual obligations. This risk can be partly managed by choosing to deal with counterparties with superior risk profiles, though it is not possible to avoid all risk of the counterparty later failing to perform its obligations. You rely on the Responsible Entity to interact with counterparty to investments held for your Account, but the Responsible Entity does not take responsibility for guaranteeing the solvency or performance of the counterparty.

Other discretion risks

The Share Prices Managed Account Service vests certain discretion with the Responsible Entity, including in the operational implementation of the Model Portfolios, adjustments following corporate actions, the timing of transactions, and how to dispose of investments on termination of the Account.

The timing of cash contributions may not result in investment in portfolio securities until a later rebalance occurs. This can mean an investor's Account could be adversely or profitably affected before rebalancing takes place.

The decision to exercise discretions, or not to exercise them, can adversely or profitably affect the value of the investments in the Account and therefore also the investment returns. Investors have no recourse to the Responsible Entity, the Operator for if and how any of them exercises any of their discretions except strictly as available under the law and the Constitution.

Section 3 - What investments are available?

The Share Prices Managed Account Service offers access to Model Portfolios comprised of shares, units in managed investment schemes and other financial products (such as derivatives, for example). The Model Portfolios are managed according to investment objectives and strategies particular to the relevant Model Portfolio and a range of investment objectives and strategies are therefore made available to investors via the Service.

In consultation with your financial adviser you can select one or more Model Portfolios to suit your investment goals.

Details of each Model Portfolio available for investment through the Service are set out in separate PDS Part Bs available with respect to one or more Model Portfolios.

Because information about the Model Portfolios may change you should check for updated information at our website. The Share Prices Managed Account Service offers access to a range of investments comprised variously of shares, securities, exchange traded derivatives, unlisted debt instruments, units in managed investment schemes, OTC derivatives such as FX and CFDS and other financial products from time to time.

Our relationship with the Program Managers is governed by a program management agreement (except if we are the Program Manager of a Model Portfolio). This sets out the agreed investment objectives, strategy and any investment restrictions applicable to each Model Portfolio. Each of the Models is managed by the relevant Program Manager within these broad investment guidelines. You have no contractual relationship with the Program Managers (except if we are the Program Manager).

Any changes to a Model Portfolio are advised to us by the Program Managers, and, subject to our over-riding power to refuse to execute purchases or sales where it is not in your best interests, or it is impractical to do so, we then buy and sell investments (or arrange the sale and purchase of investments) to implement the changes across all Personal Portfolios that were based on that Model Portfolio.

We reserve the right to change Program Managers, change the Model Portfolios offered, offer new Model Portfolios or cease to offer Model Portfolios. If a Model Portfolio ceases to be available, we will give you prior written notice and seek alternative instructions from you.

We also may vary the timing of execution of orders within our discretion. This is to allow for efficient order execution. We also must manage the fairest and most efficient aggregation of orders across all Model Portfolio's, so no group of investors is unfairly materially adversely disadvantaged over time. Accordingly, the exact portfolio weights and cash balances may at any time differ slightly from the precise Model Portfolio weightings as advised by the Program Manager.

We may at any time change the investments or any trading parameter for them. This might lead to having to terminate investments earlier than you planned. For example, if a government of a major traded currency announces a significant change in policy, we might consider suspending, or terminating, trading in their currency, or in OTC derivatives in relation to that currency. Similarly, we may suspend, or halt, investments which directly or indirectly relate to crypto currencies.

We also may vary the timing of execution of orders within our discretion. This is to allow for efficient order execution. We also must manage the fairest and most efficient aggregation of orders across all Accounts, so no member is unfairly materially adversely disadvantaged over time.

No representations are made about the return of capital or any return of income or other performance by the Share Prices Managed Account Service by us, our related parties, agents or the Program Managers.

You should consult your adviser before you select any investment.

Labour standards, environmental, social and ethical considerations

We do not consider labour standards or ethical considerations when making available the Service and nor do we take them into consideration when executing any instruction for your investment decisions.

The Responsible Entity may therefore decline any application in its discretion and if it does it will refund your application moneys within the time required by law.

If any interests are issued and payments are dishonoured after the interests being issued, those interests will be cancelled and void as of their date of issue.

No interests will be issued until the application is complete, as detailed above, by the time set for each Model Portfolio and the application has been accepted. Details of each Model Portfolio are set out in separate documents, referred to as "PDS Part Bs".

Suspension of withdrawals

Compliance Committee

We have established a Compliance Committee to oversee the operations of the Share Prices Managed Account Service. The Compliance Committee is required to report breaches of the Constitution and the Corporations Act to the directors of the Responsible Entity and in some circumstances to ASIC.

Section 5 - How the Share Prices Managed Account Service works

How your investments are held

All assets held within the Share Prices Managed Account Service, including those held in your Account, are held in our name as the Responsible Entity or in the name of any custodian we appoint. Each investor's cash and Account of assets and liabilities are segregated into a separate account and held separately on trust for them. Holdings may be aggregated for administrative purposes only. Your cash and other assets in your Account are always protected from other members. Records of each member's holdings are retained by us.

Dealing in investments

Dealing in investments for the Share Prices Managed Account Service will be undertaken by us (or our agents). Dealings may occur on an aggregate, averaged basis across all Accounts within the Share Prices Managed Account Service to take advantage of scale and netting opportunities. All investments will be allocated to the relevant Accounts on a pro rata basis.

In order to minimise the amount of brokerage paid, we will generally use a single execution only broker. We may use other brokers if market conditions and stock-specific factors warrant it. The brokers may include a related entity to the Responsible Entity, but the Responsible Entity may change brokers at any time or use several brokers for the same overall transaction.

Corporate actions

Since the Responsible Entity for the Share Prices Managed Account Service, Gleneagle (or a custodian) will receive communications relating to corporate actions affecting the investments held in your Account, we rely on your notification to us in time to implement any instructions that we are permitted to make for the corporate action.

In dealing with corporate actions, we will act in the best interests of members in the Share Prices Managed Account Service as a whole, but will not be obliged to consider any particular member nor will we be obliged in all cases without fail to act on any member's directions. Our policy regarding corporate actions affecting securities held in the Share Prices Managed Account Service is that generally:

- we will elect to receive dividends and distributions in cash, which will be credited to your cash holdings within your Account;
- we will generally adopt a neutral position and not vote at meetings of holders of investments, although we may exercise our discretion and vote depending on the circumstances; and
- we will deal with other corporate actions using our discretion, and in discussion with any Program Manager.

In certain limited circumstances, entitlement to corporate actions may be subject to externally imposed limits or caps which may result in your entitlement to participate in the corporate action through your Account's holding being less than that of an individual investor holding the same number of securities directly or it may prevent any participation at all.

Section 6 - Reporting to members

Statutory reporting for the Share Prices Managed Account Service consists of monthly and annual reports. Applications will only be accepted from persons who agree to receive reporting in the manner outlined below.

Reports for each member are also available for each Account. Key reports available include:

Monthly report:

Net Asset Valuation

Section 7 - Fees, charges and costs

DID YOU KNOW?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns.

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

TO FIND OUT MORE

If you would like to find out more or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.fido.asic.gov.au) has a managed investment fee calculator to help you research different fee options.

This document shows fees and other costs that you may be charged in respect to your investment. These fees and costs may be deducted from the returns enjoyed on your investment or from your Account. You should read all the information about fees and costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment. Once again, we urge you to obtain professional financial advice regarding the features and characteristics of the Service and how they may impact upon you personally.

Unless otherwise stated, all fees in this PDS) are in Australian dollars and are have been stated inclusive of any Goods and Services Tax (GST) and exclusive of any reduced input tax credits (RITCs).

Additional explanation of fees and costs

Taxes

We may deduct applicable taxes from your account.

Transactional and operational costs

Transaction costs cover the costs of buying and selling investments in your Account, and are made up primarily of brokerage payable in respect to sale and purchase transactions, but may also, depending on the jurisdiction in which those transactions are effected, include Government taxes, bank charges and stamp duty (if any). These costs are incurred when transactions are affected.

If transaction costs are incurred in relation to more than one investor's Account, they will be allocated pro rata across all affected Accounts. The Service is expecting to take advantage of competitive brokerage rates.

Rollover /SWAP Fee

When you buy or sell a currency, a swap or rollover fee may be paid or received daily. This is simply the interest wed/paid to maintain your position, and the amount of which will depend on the relative interest rate yield of each currency. You are essentially using the currency you have sold to fund the currency you have bought.

For example, if the overnight cash rate set by the Reserve Bank of Australia is 4.25%, you would expect AUD 100,000 dollars to earn at least at least 4.25% per annum. Or, if you are borrowing US dollars, given US official interest rates are almost zero, the cost of borrowing is a lot cheaper.

The Rollover / Swap Fee is the interest paid or earned for each day that a long or short FX Transaction is held at the end of the trading day based on the daily settlement interest rate differential of the currency pair being traded.

Each currency has an interest rate associated with it, and because FX Transactions is traded in pairs, every trade involves not only two different currencies, but their two different interest rates. If the interest rate on the currency you bought is higher than the interest rate of the currency you sold, then you will earn a rollover benefit (positive roll). If the interest rate on the currency you bought is lower than the interest rate on the currency you sold, then you will pay a rollover expense (negative roll).

This Rollover/ Swap Fee can add a significant extra cost or profit to your trade.

The amount charged or credited to your Account will be reflected daily on your statements.

Can fees and charges change?

All fees and charges can change.

The Constitution sets the maximum fees we are entitled to charge. The Constitution restricts the Responsible Entity to receive and retain for its own use out of the Account an account management fee of up to a maximum of 2.2% of the gross asset value of the Account at the end of the month.

We do not envisage that we will ever be charging uncompetitive fees.

The fees and charges currently applicable to your investment are set out in this PDS. Although we have the right to change our fees and charges, we have no present intention to do so. If we do change our fees and charges, we will provide you with a minimum of 30 days' notice of any increase. We can notify you by posting the information on our website, by email or referring to these changes in your Account.

Individual fee arrangements and service provider arrangements

We may pay some of the fees payable to us to dealer groups who distribute the Share Prices Managed Account Service to "wholesale clients" including "professional investors" (as defined in the Corporations Act) so that, in effect, they pay lower overall fees. This is generally because they invest very large amounts of money in the Service, which in turn provides the Service with the necessary funding to derive certain scale benefits available the Service having access to larger or more diverse assets or investments.

We may also, at our discretion, enter a variety of arrangements with service providers such as master fund and IDPS operators which may involve us making payments to, and providing services to, these operators in return for the promotion of the Service. Such payments may be one-off payments or on-going payments based on a percentage of funds under management. These payments are paid out of our fees and are not an additional cost to the investor.

Additionally, we may provide certain persons with alternative forms of remuneration which include professional development, sponsorship and entertainment to licensed financial advisers, dealer groups and master fund or IDPS operators.

If such benefits are provided, they are payable by us and not an additional cost to you.

We may also individually negotiate fees with investors classed as "wholesale" or "professional" investors based on the value of their investments. We may also offer reduced fees to employees of the responsible entity and its related bodies corporate. We cannot enter individual fee arrangements with other investors.

Interest on Application Moneys

If for any reason your application to participate in the Service is not immediately accepted when your application money is received, your application money will be placed into a bank account until it is transferred to your Account and will earn interest at 3% p.a provided the application moneys are received before the cut off time relating to the applications for each Model Portfolio. Interest will be calculated from the date the Responsible Entity receives the cleared funds to the date the interests are issued for each of the Model Portfolios. The cut off time relating to the applications for each Model Portfolio and the for the interests to be issued is set for each Model Portfolio. Details of each Model Portfolio are set out in separate documents, referred to as "PDS Part Bs".

Section 8 - Taxation

Tax features

The taxation implications of investing in through an Account vary for each investor depending upon their circumstances and choices. We recommend you seek your own professional advice before you make any investment decisions.

Investing and dealing with investments often has tax and social security implications which can be complex, and which are invariably particular to your circumstances. The tax information set out below is a broad overview of the possible Australian income tax consequences for Australian residents who invest in long term investments on capital account through the Share Prices Managed Account Service. The taxation consequences of investing differ between investors, and it is important that you seek your own professional advice before you make investment decisions.

The tax information is current as at the date of this PDS. The levels and basis of tax may change in the future.

Taxation of the Share Prices Managed Account Service

The Share Prices Managed Account Service is not taxed since all investments are beneficially held by investors directly in their separate Accounts. You have a vested and indefeasible interest in your assets held through the Share Prices Managed Account Service.

All net income and gains (or losses) on investments and other assets in your Account accrue directly to you.

Tax on Income

Depending on the types of investments made, your Account can derive income in the form of dividends, interest, gains on the disposal of investments and other types of income. Generally, such income is taxable, but tax credits (for example, franking credits or foreign tax credits) may be available to offset part or all of any resulting tax liability.

If you receive franking credits your entitlement to use those credits to offset tax or obtain a refund of tax may be affected by your holding of the underlying shares which resulted in the credits. Usually, you must hold the relevant shares at risk for more than 45 days (90 days for preference shares) to be entitled to the credit. There are exceptions to this rule, and you should consult your tax adviser for further information.

Tax on Capital Gains

The disposal of investments in your Account may result in a capital gain or loss under the capital gains tax provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997. These disposals may be triggered by the investment decisions of a Program Manager, by your withdrawals or switching between Model Portfolios, or by rebalancing of your Account.

Providing your Tax File Number

The application includes provision to quote your Tax File Number (TFN), Australian Business Number (ABN) or exemption. You may choose not to do so, however if you do not quote your TFN, ABN or exemption we may be obliged to deduct tax at the highest marginal rate plus any relevant Government levies (including the Medicare Levy) from any income received on your behalf.

Goods and Services Tax

GST will be charged on or incorporated in various expenses paid by the Share Prices Managed Account Service including the fees charged for managing the Model Portfolios and administering the Share Prices Managed Account Service.

Tax Reporting

Various reports are available to assist you with determining the tax status of your Account. These reports are generally available for you to view and print from the Share Prices Managed Account Service website at any time. Downloads are available for many accounting packages to assist you in the preparation of your tax return.

Tax reporting available online includes an estimate of the available tax credits in relation to your Account.

Section 9 - Responsible entity reporting requirements

The Share Prices Managed Account Service is not currently a disclosing entity as defined under the Corporations Act. If it were to become a disclosing entity during the currency of this Product Disclosure Statement, the Share Prices Managed Account Service would be subject to additional regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Copies of documents lodged with ASIC to comply with these requirements may be obtained from, or inspected at, an ASIC office.

You have a right to request a copy of the Share Prices Managed Account Service's half yearly financial report and any continuous disclosure notices lodged with ASIC (in addition to the annual audited financial accounts referred to above).

All liabilities, which in our opinion are attributable to you or your Account, are to be satisfied by one or both of the following:
